GHI Board Gets Reaction To "Marital Status" Case

by Al Skolnik

A preview of the arguments that probably will be heard by the county council at its public hearing Tuesday night, March 8, at Upper Marlboro on CB-3 took place at last Thursday's meeting of the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors. CB-3 is an amendment to the Human Relations Act giving landlords and housing corporations the right to either reject or accept occupancy by persons unrelated by blood or marriage.

Several GHI members felt that GHI should relax its rules of occupancy which at the present time limit occupancy and the right to purchase a GHI home (perpetual use lease) to members of an immediate family, defined by GHI as persons related by blood or marriage.

"The only criterion," a Ridge court resident said, "should be the financial stability of the applicants — ability to meet the monthly charges, so that they won't be a drag on the rest of us." A Hillside resident thought that the refusal of the corporation to count the income of both partners in the case of an unmarried couple, while doing so for a married couple, was discriminatory.

Committee Report

The Member and Community Relations committee submitted a report in which it recommended that the occupancy standard of GHI be changed from one specifying relationship of occupants to one limiting the number of occupants based on the size of the unit. It was later explained that this criterion would apply to new applicants at point of sale and not to GHI members after they moved in.

There was little opposition, however, to GHI taking an appeal of the county Human Relations Commission ruling which requires GHI to grant membership to unmarried couples living together. For as GHI president Jim Smith pointed out, "There are many ways that we can change our rules and adopt new guidelines for occupancy, but to do so we need some leeway and that is what the HRC ruling will not give us."

Smith observed that under the HRC ruling not only will the corporation be affected, but also any individual GHI member who seeks to sell or rent his unit. Such a member, he said, will have his freedom impaired as to whom he wants to occupy his home during his temporary absence.

Smith also felt that if the HRC ruling stood it could increase GHI's administrative costs, especially with respect to collecting monthly charges and establishing fiscal responsibilities in case of families splitting. Such a risk, he said, is greater among unmarried couples than married couples.

Solar Heat

A 2 Southway court resident expressed her unhappiness at the work going on in her row on the solar heat project. She said she was told that the installation work would be over last year, but work is continually going on. She complained of lack of privacy and noise arising from maintenance men working on the roof and in the boiler room, the ruin of the lawn, and the left-over litter. She felt that she "was living within a testing laboratory" and wondered how long it would continue.

GHI manager Roy Breashears said the project, as an experimental project, has run into some unexpected problems and has been delayed by such things as frozen pipes. However, the solar heat collectors have been in operation since February 5 and are producing heat. NASA is now obliged to monitor the project to determine its effectiveness.

Smith asked the manager to make a report to the board clarifying such things as GHI's responsibilities to members involved in the project and to make a prognosis as to how much additional maintenance work will be needed. The corporation is now in the process of asking for a Federal Housing and Urban Development grant for another solar heat project involving 20 frame units in the 14-16 Ridge courts. The grant will pay for the installation and equipment. GHI will have to pay for the insulation of the units and storm and screen windows.

Other Matters

In other matters, the board heard a report that it would cost over $500 a unit to add additional insulation to the ceilings of the new townhouses. It was agreed that the matter should be discussed with the homeowners, before any decision is made.

The GHI board will meet on the conversion to hot water heat in the North End. If any members, including brick home owners, have removed radiators sitting around in their closets, GHI can use them.

The GHI board will meet on March 12 with representatives of four consulting firms who have submitted bids to prepare a long-range plan for rehabilitating GHI.

The board approved the expenditure of $25,795 for the replacement and repair of sidewalks in both the frame and brick homes.

THAT TIME AGAIN

CITY COUNCIL PREPARING FOR BUDGET DISCUSSIONS

by Al Skolnik

City council saw unmistakable signs of approaching of budget time at its regular meeting on Monday, February 28, when it heard opinions from various citizens on city programs and expenditures. A Lakeside citizen, Janet Kuhn, urged the council to reduce the city property tax by either cutting services or seeking alternative sources of revenues. "I don't use any of the recreation services," she said, "so why should I pay for them?"

Joseph Greig from Northway had a different problem. He complained of the inequity involved for swimmers by making them pay their own way for the swimming pool while users of other recreation activities pay nothing or little directly toward their use. He wanted the swimming pool to be put on the same basis as other activities, either by city subsidization of the swimming pool or by making all recreation activities self-supporting. He thought the latter approach might have some advantage from the standpoint of the sorely-pressed property owner such as the Lakeside speaker.

These statements gave the council an opportunity to urge all interested citizens to make their views known during budget hearings which will be starting in April. For those who can't wait, there will be a federally-required hearing on the use of revenue sharing funds on Monday, March 21. This hearing will be conducted by the city manager Jim Giese who is required to hold such a public hearing prior to his submittal of the budget to city council.

The city has been receiving about $80,000 a year in Federal revenue sharing funds. The funds can be used for a broad number of purposes and can be used to relieve the general fund or to fund capital improvements.

For example, in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1976, $43,000 of revenue-sharing funds were used to reimburse the General Fund for expenditures which are eligible for payment out of revenue-sharing money; $29,000 was used to reimburse the Capital Improvement Fund for construction costs for Springhill Lake Recreation Center; $14,225 to purchase new furnishings for the SHL Recreation Center; and $15,000 for new playground equipment. The total amount expended was $101,225, including some left-over funds from the previous year.

Swimming Pool Fees

Another meeting that might be affecting the budget is scheduled for Wednesday, March 9 to consider swimming pool rates. The city manager reported that during the 1976 season, swimming pool revenues fell short of expenditures by $10,097. The deficit was $1,420 greater than the previous season. Revenues barely covered the cost of operating expenses and provided little towards the cost of repaying outstanding bond principal and interest.

Giese is therefore recommending a 25% increase in 1977 rates that would almost, but not fully, offset operating expenses. The resident family pass, for example, would be $50 instead of $40. He also suggested opening the pool to non-resident season passes without any requirement that such non-residents be recommended by a resident. Other suggestions included providing more favorable benefits to pass holders and even providing free passes to senior citizens.

GIRLS' ALL-STAR GAME

On Sat., March 5, at 6 p.m. at the Capital Centre, the Boy's & Girls' Club is sponsoring the 18-year-old girls' All-Star game as the preliminary game to the Bullets basketball game.

Greenbelter Jo Ann Rowe is the coach of the American team. Bridget Osborne and Patty Cook, of Greenbelt, will play on the American team.

Greenbelt CARES

Greenbelt CARES' tutoring program has twenty available tutors and now needs more students who need tutoring. Please call 345-3456.

Stidham Property

The council went on record in favor of rezoning the Stidham property from R-P-C (rural-planned community) to C-O (commercial office). The 2.4556-acre parcel north of the Springhill Lake cut-off between Edmonston Road and Kenilworth Ave. abutting the Capital Beltway is to be the site of a 40,000 sq. ft. office building constructed by Nationwide Insurance. The land is designated C-O in the Greenbelt Master Plan.

The council, however, supported the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission technical staff recommendations that the building be centrally located on the site rather than at the southern end and that as much as possible of the tree coverage be preserved.

The city's Advisory Planning Board had additional reservations about the rezoning. It felt that the proposed building would provide too intense development and expressed concern about the adequacy and layout of parking, compatibility with surrounding neighborhood including visual impact on Lake Park, buffering and landscaping, and the impact of additional traffic on Edmonston Road and the Kenilworth Ave.-Greenbelt Road intersection.

In supporting the rezoning, council generally felt that the Stidham property was not suitable for residential development and noted that the adjacent property between Edmonston Road and Kenilworth Ave. is already zoned C-O. It was also noted that Nationwide Insurance has played a significant role in the history of Greenbelt and that it would be desirable to continue that relationship by their locating an office facility within the city.

The zoning application will now go to the county zoning hearing examiner for a public hearing.

Charter Changes

The council took final action on a charter amendment that would establish a non-profit corporation to hold title and to administer the housing for the elderly project. A separate corporation was set up to limit the liability of the city to the assets of the housing project.

Another charter change was introduced for first reading that would provide authority for the city to provide for proper legal defense of its officials and employees when they are parties to suits arising from the lawful performance of their official duties.

Also introduced for first reading was an ordinance laying down procedures for voter registration by mail.

Other Matters

The council received a report from the city's Park and Recreation Advisory Board supporting the Garden Club's request for use of city park land for garden plots. PRAB thought that the land behind the Public Works Building would be particularly suitable, but if this land was to be developed as a ball field, then they suggested portions of parcel 7 or possible Agricultural Research Center land.

The council received a request from Greenbriar condominium owners that the city see what can be done to control the loitering of Roosevelt high school students in the Greenbriar picnic areas and their use of Greenbriar buildings for smoking. Also complained about was the destruction of the fence along the Baltimore-Washington Parkway by students crossing the Parkway. Council directed the city manager to investigate.

Three members of the Community Relations Advisory Board — Katherine Keene, Darwin Beck, and Al Cousin — were reappointed for another 3-year term.

Clarifying the Issue

To the Editor:

Many of those writing to the News Review about eligibility for membership in Greenbelt Homes, Inc. appear not to understand what is at issue.

Every GHI member has a contract in which he agrees that he shall occupy his home "as a private dwelling . . . for himself and his immediate family." Since 1952, "immediate family" has been interpreted to mean persons related by blood or marriage.

The Prince Georges County Human Relations Commission declares that this is not the only commonly accepted definition of the term. The Commission fails to say what is an appropriate definition although it makes reference to a dictionary and to the county zoning ordinance. The latter defines "family" to include "a group of five persons (including servants) not related by blood or marriage, living together as a single housekeeping group in a dwelling unit . . ." On another occasion, the Commission appeared to state that occupancy could not be limited to fewer than two persons per bedroom. The last would mean for GHI a potential increase of about 25% in its population.

Because the Commission has not clarified what is an "immediate family", because GHI may not unilaterally change what it and its members have assumed this term meant and, most important of all, because the stability of GHI depends on there being clear contractual relations between the corporation and its members, the board of directors is appealing to the courts the decision of the Human Relations Commission.

Meanwhile, on March 8 at 7:30 p.m. in Upper Marlboro, the county council will hold a hearing on a bill to amend the law under which the Commission acted. The county bill would permit GHI and others similarly situated to refuse housing to individuals not related by blood or marriage. It would not require refusal, but merely offer an option to do so. The option is needed by GHI and, for that matter, by a member who, in subletting his home, would want to choose among would-be tenants. All those who are interested are urged to attend the hearing.

Greenbelt's Inner Walks

To the Editor:

To those of you who consider Greenbelt a wonderful place to live, I say to you one of the wonders is our walkways.

Greenbelt was not built by accident or chance, it was designed. One of the finest, most fundamental and useful parts of that grand design is the inner walkways.

So beautiful an idea and reality — a system of walkways that lace and weave through our town. Walkways that take us to our schools, playgrounds, stores and each other's homes — and never beside a street.

Should we not be working to maintain, improve and enhance this priceless community asset instead of actively or inactively contributing to the walkways destruction?

If you question the worth of our walkways, I suggest you use them — take a walk, day or night and you will see and hear and understand the beauty and logic of our inner walkway system.

The design is invaluable and the walkways are irreplaceable. They are an essential part of this community — write, call, speak out, work to save them.

Twin Pines Disregards
Its Cooperative Roots

To the Editor:

On Feb. 23, 1977, the Board of Directors took a giant step backwards, away from the co-operative idea under which Twin Pines was founded. Perhaps it was an unwitting move, but it was, nevertheless, a step backwards.

For the third straight year, the Board of Directors voted not to send a mailed meeting notice to the general membership. The same reasons were cited that were cited for the past two years: that the expense was not worth it, that people receiving an announcement would throw it away like a piece of junk mail, and that there was not enough time remaining to expedite such a mailing.

According to the management at Twin Pines, approximately 30% of Twin Pines members live outside of the Greenbelt area, and therefore, would not be aware of the annual meeting unless they happened to stop by the Twin Pines office and read the meeting notice (which appeared late last year, less than twenty days prior to the meeting. Admittedly, the News Review was in the office, but page two of a publication sitting on a window sill could scarcely be called a prominent place).

The vote was to completely disenfranchise, in effect, approximately 30% of the Twin Pines members by predetermining that such members are not interested in the affairs of the association. Because, occasionally, delivery of the News Review in certain areas of Greenbelt is spotty, we are possibly excluding certain Greenbelt residents, also.

The statement was made that there was too little time to expedite a mailed meeting notice. All that is required for such a notice are: Mailing labels (available in about a week from the computer firm that handles Twin Pines accounts), envelopes (which, are an easily obtainable commodity), the actual meeting notice (reprints from the notice that appeared in last week's News Review could be made, again in less than a week), and the stuffing of material into the envelopes (for which members of the Member Relations Committee had volunteered).

The money question was brought up; it would cost approximately one thousand dollars to expedite such a mailing. The income and growth of Twin Pines can well afford such an expense. If it could not, then there must be an explanation for the following: the Board of Directors voted unanimously to increase directors fees, retroactive to July 1, 1977 from $20 to $50 per meeting. For the past six months, this would amount to $1620 for the increase alone, in addition to the original $1080 already scheduled to be paid. (It should be noted that slightly short of this amount is actually paid, as not all directors attend every meeting). In addition, funds in the amount of $100 were appropriated for door prizes for those who attended the annual meeting. Because of the previous expenditures, I feel that any allegation that Twin Pines cannot afford the cost of informing its members of its annual meeting is completely absurd.

Finally, it was brought out that a message on the passbooks of account holders states, "Annual Meeting fourth Tuesday in March at 8 p.m. in Greenbelt, Maryland," and that this should satisfy some need to know about the annual meeting. As it does not contain the place of the meeting, and, of course, cannot contain an agenda or names of candidates up for election, the message, by itself can only amount to a form of tokenism that borders on insult.

Twin Pines was founded as a co-operative, which is supposed to be responsive to the needs of its members. It is for that reason, among others, that the Member Relations Committee exists. However, if Twin Pines continues to ignore its co-operative roots, then there is no need for a Member Relations Committee, a committee from which I have recently resigned for that reason. I would like to see Twin Pines regain the cooperative spirit, but, in view of recent happenings, I strongly doubt that it will happen.

Hearing on School Closing

Concerned citizens from the Lanham area, parents of Glen Arden youngsters who are bused to the Lanham Elementary School, members of Task Force 2-B, and other citizens gathered Monday night, February 28, at Du Val Senior High School to discuss the possible closing of Lanham Elementary School.

No member of the Lanham community wanted the school to be closed. No member of the Lanham community expressed an alternative choice of schools he wished his child to attend should the Lanham school be closed. Members of the community did voice their grievance against the power of the task force to even choose a school to be closed, their unhappiness in the task force's choice and their further dislike of the school board and school administration which thrust this decision on the task force, thereby "pitting one community against another" and avoiding the difficult decision themselves.

Some comments against the closing of the Lanham school were as follows: the school was a small, closely knit composite of students, parents and faculty which allowed the problems of each to be known by each; discipline was more easily maintained in a small school; many members of the faculty had been there at least nine years and worked well together; why was the school board building new schools (Springhill Lake addition and the Princess Garden addition were mentioned as examples) when other schools were being closed.

Lanham citizens disliked the fact that the decision on closing was made on the same evening when the task force was receiving more information on the schools such as code deficiencies and the physical plants. Some people said that North End Elementary was more costly to run.

Some of those who were resigned to the closing of Lanham Elementary expressed their desire to have one year before the school would be closed so that parents could either re-locate in another area or find a suitable private school for their child.

It was pointed out to the Lanham community that at the last task force's meeting, everyone on the task force had agreed that one school in area 2-B would be closed; only after this decision was made did the members decide which school would be selected for closing; and no member of the task force voiced a negative vote against the choice of the Lanham school although some may not have voted at all since the ballot was a voice vote and not written.

Ultimately the school board will make its decision following another public hearing. The task force meets again on March 7 to reconsider its decision and write its report on its recommendations to the Prince Georges County Board of Education. Although the superintendent and the board are not bound by the task force's recommendations, they are expected to follow them.

Lanham has a capacity for 450 pupils. It is currently operating with 343 pupils, at 76.2% utilization. Its projected enrollment for 1977-78 is 335. It also has the largest number of bused children, 259, (except for C. T. Reed which buses all children into the school because of its location along two major roads) as opposed to 117 for Magnolia, 174 for Gaywood, 200 for Center and 203 for North End.

The other reasons for choosing Lanham school for closing were the proposed widening of the Lanham-Severn Road (vehemently denied as a valid reason by some Lanham residents) and code deficiencies. Its location near commercial properties, and its nearness (1.4 miles) to a Metro station will mean more traffic in the area.

Additionally Lanham, the smallest of the 6 schools in Task Force 2-B, finds it is no longer economical to maintain its own cafeteria and receives its lunches from a nearby junior high.

Before we could raise the flag, we had to raise the money.

And it wasn't because Betsy Ross charged too much.

Building an independent nation cost plenty. In lives, in property, and yes, in money.

So, our Founding Fathers asked their fellow Americans to take stock in their country.

And we did. To the tune of $27,000,000.

With that kind of support, it's no wonder that, after the smoke cleared, the star-spangled banner kept waving.

Yes, folks really took stock in their country back then. And you still can by buying United States Savings Bonds.

Because when you join the Payroll Savings Plan at work or the Bond-A-Month Plan where you save, you're investing in a brighter future for you and for America.

So buy United States Savings Bonds. They're a great way to raise the flag. Or a family.

Now E Bonds pay 6% interest when held to maturity of 5 years (4½% the first year). Lost, stolen or destroyed Bonds can be replaced if records are provided. When needed, Bonds can be cashed at your bank. Interest is not subject to state or local income taxes, and federal tax may be deferred until redemption.

Take stock in America.
